

THE USAIDS HUNGRY FARMERS SWARM TO TOWN; LOOTING FEARED

Drought in Big Province Brings Serious Worry to Authorities — Scared
Shop Owners Close.

NANKING, China, Sept. 12.—The world's largest food and fodder hoard is in famine-stricken Anhwei province.

A summer-long drought that has seared fields, dried water sources and made denude that thickly populated countryside gave no sign of ending, and hungry farmers swarmed into smaller towns demanding food from rice shops. These closed, fearing attacks.

RELIEF URGENT

Advices from the inland provinces—where the signs of the winter are as great as those of the summer—indicated that food was forthcoming promptly if widespread famine and banditry is to be averted.

Last month dispatches from China said the intense heat, reaching 120 degrees at many points, had brought death to one in every thousand of China's 450,000,000 inhabitants.

WOLVES HOWLING

There were grim stories of hunger-stricken wolves sweeping down on helpless villagers. Farmers saving their last small supplies of grain were in fruitless efforts to save parched crops, peasants were everywhere of hunger, disease and polluted water supplies.

CHAMPION WINS

Scotty Campbell, of Seattle, Canadian amateur champion, pulled out his match with Wilson F. Marks of Pittsburgh in the last round, after seeing his early margin wiped out entirely by Marks, who won the 10th and 16th, the latter with the tremendous margin of 7 and 5.

John B. Nash, of London, Ont., continued his superb showings by eliminating Charles Kozak, highly considered New Yorker, one up.

Clark Evans won an old-timer's duel from Chandler Gray, 50-year-old Californian, 7 and 1. Both formerly held the title. Evans last in 1920 and Gray away back in 1904-05.

GUARDS BRING ORDER TO NEW STRIKE FIELD

Trouble Flares on Many Fronts as Zero Settlement Hour Passed

SAVILEVILLE, Ill., Sept. 12.—National Guardsmen of Rhode Island first fired their first shot in the United States strike in this state this morning when they discharged their rifles over the heads of strikers who advanced toward the gates of the Saylor Farming Co. where serious violence has occurred during the past 48 hours.

A wild riot that started shortly after 9 o'clock last night, when upward of 4,000 men battled 250 National Guardsmen, believed under control of the latter early today.

Sporadic fighting broke out in various sections of the nearby Central Falls after midnight. It lacked the concerted ferocity of a strike after strike.

The night riot followed several smaller ones during the day, in which three persons, including a 72-year-old woman, were shot, and scores were injured by flying missiles.

State troopers remained on guard at the plant of the Saylor Farming Co. in the morning, in the presence of fighting which, Tuesday, resulted in hundreds of pints of glass being broken in the plant buildings.

LIGHTS OUT

The latest outbreak was waged for the most part, in utter darkness. The rioters, many of whom were broken by rock-throwing. Clouds of tear and nausea gas swept through the streets, and some blinding friend and foe alike.

State troopers were brought into a field hospital for the night, and many were broken by rock-throwing. Girls were seen gathering there to make good use of the "ammunition."

GENEVA, Sept. 12.—Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria addressed the League assembly in a speech of moderate tone this afternoon.

Speaking of the murder of his predecessor, Engelbert Dollfus, Schuschnigg said it was "a premeditated and perfidious crime carried out with unparalleled brutality."

He made no specific mention of Germany, charged by Austrian fascists with instigating the abortive Nazi putsch in Austria during which Dollfus was slain.

But the new Austrian Chancellor said the independence of Austria must be maintained, and that was mainly in the interest of Austria.

Canadian Congress Condemns Ontario Hydro For Recent Rule

T. J. HAROLD J. FAIR

TORONTO Sept. 12—Canadian labor last night stood opposed to the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission's prohibition of political activity among its employees in a recent memorandum following adoption by the Trade and Labor Congress of Canada at their convention here of a resolution of protest. Labor reiterated its opposition to Communism but couldn't make up its mind on the question of a minimum wage for men.

Introducing a special resolution J. W. Buckley of Toronto, termed the Hydro memorandum "the thin edge of the wedge to bring down the hammer and destroy our political liberty."

Question of a minimum wage for men was raised by J. A. P. Maydon of Ottawa, speaking for the

TRANSPORTATION'S REAL FUNCTION

It is well at the outset to recall a few platitudes of the situation. Transportation services are necessary in a country as widespread as this Dominion. But we do not get rich by hauling things to and fro. The prime function of transportation is to serve public needs. Transportation costs money.

The country provides its highway transportation by levying taxes directly through taxation. This is common to all public utilities.

In the case of railway transportation the theory has been that it should be paid for entirely through rates levied upon those who use it. This theory has not been made quite and the public has made up the deficit through taxation. This is being corrected.

But I do not find that all economists

REGINA, Sept. 12.—Ultimatum of M. J. country. The report contends that the 1954 session of parliament gave only "a cursory consideration" to the Labor program. Particularly it referred to the Canada Shipping Act, which it understood had been replaced by an entirely new act that has not yet been promulgated.

In all legislatures, however, it noted "evidence of an increased interest in the subject of investment in industry and agriculture."

It attributed this in part to disclosures of the Stevens Price Probe Committee or the threat of continuing the investigation.

Legislative enactment can never be a solution to the problem of the Union, the report stated in conclusion.

"I am opposed to minimum wage laws for men," he said and believed trade unions should enforce the minimum wage. Any code established should contain provisions for collective bargaining, he declared, adding the danger with the codes in Quebec lay in their making no allowance for this right.

ASKS OPINIONS

President Tom Moore explained the executive had no definite pronouncement on the subject but felt delegates from provinces with new wage restrictions should be allowed to discuss them.

Investigations he made in British Columbia, John W. Bruce of Toronto said that province's industrial relations board set a rate of $15 a week for workers. Declaring these wages were 50 per cent higher than those established by union men, he saw an effort to regulate wages below those caused by legitimate trade.

CHEAPER RATES DEMANDED

In Western Canada for a number of years there has been a strong demand for cheaper transportation. This agitation has been justified by two factors:

1. That lower rates would increase the volume of traffic to such an extent as to maintain if not increase railway earnings.

2. That if railway earnings suffer to the point of requiring a subsidy from the public treasury, the benefits to trade and industry will be such as to enable the country to bear the burden of the rates above the present high transportation rates.

That this latter proposition is not new is evidenced by the fact that both the C. P. R. and the N.P.W.R. were first built for military, strategic reasons without any serious expectation that they would be "erated profitable."

The fact that the C. P. R. has paid its way is explained largely by the fact that it was built for military purposes.

ONE-SIDED CONTOVERSY

Hence it is argued that railway employees are not in the position of an unhealthy union. I find in reliable circles, however, that there is a great deal of concern about two other unhealthy symptoms.

1. Public opinion is being bombarded with just the kind of statements about railway problems by the present president of the C.P.R. on the one hand, & a fellow union talking pointman prevents the presentation of the other side of the case. The public is entitled to view the viewpoint and advice or its own railway.

2. Our Parliament and Government are being misled by the C.N.R. Railways, are charged with a dual responsibility.

SINOD TOP

...yet, surely it is time the C.N.R. executives were given the opportunity of expressing themselves freely.

Then Mr. Beatty and the total cost of the C.N.R. was $2,500,000. The Bureau of Statistics report of the debt of Canada, published in May last, showed only $269,000,000 at the end of 1931 in the form of railway bonds.

Allowing for some increase this would now be about $1,100,000,000. The C.N.R. is now paying off that the total interest charges that it has to pay are $27,000,000 in 1932 a spend over $50,000,000. That is 5 percent of $1,100,000,000 interest charges. The C.N.R. is in the neighborhood of $140,000,000.

GENEVA, Sept. 12.—"The story is absolutely without foundation," said the British ambassador, Sir De Valera of the Free State today, when asked whether he had any doubts as to the fact that new negotiations have been opened for settlement of the Irish problem between the Free State and Great Britain.

Bennett Forced To Take Rest In Swiss Alps

By Associated Press

CHAMBERLAIN, Sept. 12.—Owing to continued illness, Prime Minister Bennett was unable to preside this morning at the opening of the second day of the Imperial Conference, of which he is chairman.

At the hotel in the Swiss town of Cham, where he is recovering from a Canadian prime minister caught with a fall he has since been unable to leave his bed, Mr. Bennett is working on his own paperwork. His condition is such that he is unable to leave his room.

Premier Bennett will probably attend the week-end in the mountains.

ENLIGHTENED EXPENDITURE

In awarding street contracts in the city to the extent of $162,000 at its meeting on Monday last, the City Council has shown a new thing. It is commendable not only from the point of view of citizens desiring better grading and new pavements, but also from the point of view of the 200 heads of families who will be taken from city relief and placed at work, remunerated at a fair wage.

Shakespeare says that the quality of mercy is twice-blessed: "It blesses him that gives and him that receives." The City Council's action, which is better far than charity, is surely blessed. It benefits the citizenry wishing improvements, it benefits the workers who will receive paychecks and the city's treasury by taking two hundred men and their families away from city relief.

Taxpayers who call for retrenchment may be well-meaning, but they are short-sighted.
We can never retrench ourselves into normalcy, much less prosperity. Every retrenchment adds to the dismal toll of unemployment. The city can only get out of the slough by toil and effort, by putting men to useful work at fair wages and setting the machinery of our economic life going again.

The circulation of the money paid to the deserving workers will help every time of business—particularly the retail merchants.

EXPOSING ARTFUL TRICKERY

Source friendly to Premier Bennett and to the Government of Alberta has disclosed the insidious nature of the high regard in which the late A. C. L. Gibbe, M.L.A., was held to suggest that a successor to him on the Labor ticket should be allowed to run unopposed in a by-election in Edmonton. To those familiar with the manner in which the late Gibbe conducted his campaign, it is not surprising that the Legislature has given blind support to the provincial government in its do-nothing policy of waste and drift, the suggestion is too palpably artful.

What the provincial government should have done in view of its mounting deficits, its refusal to take action to lower interest rates, its bankrupt treasury and the circumstances under which two prominent members of its executive council were recently obliged to resign office, was to call a general provincial election. It is not too late yet to call a general provincial election. The Edmonton vacancy, occurring in the dying months of office of a moribund government, is an additional reason for calling a general election.

Only once has a government in the entire history of Alberta given the full legal limit of its five year term. The only constitutional limit is that just as the Tolmie government in British Columbia held on for the sake of executive relaxation long after it had forfeited public confidence, just as the Henry government in Ontario and the Anderson government in Saskatchewan went on to salaries and emoluments long after all hope of retaining public confidence had gone, so the present government of Alberta is continuing in office for the sake of a salary grab. To allow any by-election in Alberta is to grant an outright opponent of the government—who would be a declaration of public duty on the part of those opposed to the government.

If the provincial government insists on executing its salary grab in defiance of public opinion, it would be a creditable thing to allow any candidate of a group supporting the government to call a general election and to allow citizens of Edmonton, much as they esteem the service and memory of the Alderman Gibbe, cannot allow their sympathies to be worked upon by artful minds, seeking to win for a discredited government by trickery, an unopposed successor, whose election would be acclaimed as an endorsement of the government.

If the government of Alberta in defiance of public decency and public demand refuses to call a general election and to allow a general issue before the electors of the province, the only thing that remains is for the electors of Edmonton to elect a candidate to whom the clear issue will be the record of the government.

That electors of all affiliations hold the memory of the late A. C. Gibbe in high regard can be accepted beyond question. There is no need to make that an election issue. The attempt to drag in the memory of an estimable public servant to prevent free expression of the sine of the government is as improper as it is obvious.

ORATORY VERSUS FACTS

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canada's high commissioner at London, told an audience there some time ago the world is looking to Britain for leadership as it never did before. That no doubt brought appreciative cheers from the select auditors whose vanity it was supposed to tickle. But when they took abroad to London this looking-to-Britain attitude on the part of foreigners they may have trouble finding it.
The British and Americans in London, in fact, who were sent to Geneva to prevent the disparagement conference doing anything, certainly did not look to Britain for leadership on the subject of disarmament. They there overrode every suggestion for limitation that London had to offer, as fast as these were presented, and did it with enthusiasm and finality.

Neither the gold bug in Europe nor the country Mr. Ferguson hails from have as yet followed Britain's lead in throwing monetary superstition the wind and taking the road to a managed currency. British leadership in that matter is obviously not wanted either in Paris or London. The British, in fact, are in Ottawa. In these centres money restriction is still the monetary gospel, with its corollaries of periodic deflation, tightened belts, unemployment, taxes, squalor and despair.

Britain was the last, not first, of the powers to abandon hope the sanity would return to the land of international trade. The British, in fact, had already barricaded their borders against its policy of free trade, by failing to open their Ferguson cannot stick. Britain with responsibility for leading the nations into the hopeless maze of tariffs, quotas and other trade-preventing devices which they now walk in misery. To Mr. Ferguson's native land and the Government he helped to establish at Ottawa four years ago before the British began driving the world to join the trade-killers as an act of self-defence against rampant commercial dementia.

This world did not get into its present "mess" of international trade by following the lead of it is not showing any general willingness to follow that leadership in seeking a way out. Hon. G.
Howard should stick to the facts.

From the Files of The Edmonton Bulletin

A flow of natural gas, capable of supplying a town the size of Edmonton, has been struck at Athabasca Landing by the petroleum boring company of the late Mr. J. H. McLeod, in the direction of the Dominion Government. The fact of such a large flow being struck at a depth of 400 feet shows the amount of pressure existing in the overlying strata, and will assist the party in making calculations on the distance to go before oil is reached. As sand supply is able for making gas can be extracted from the

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Uncle Sam last week moved seventy million dollars worth of the stuff that makes war possible from his mint at San Francisco to his vault at Denver. A grocery store comprised three steel mail cars, two Pullmans and a diner was used for the job. Armed guards rode with the train. Fifty mechanics and engineers, in each of the mail cars carried six armed guards, while each of the Pullmans was filled with soldiers and a secret service operators. No one had much sleep for the forty hours of the run.

Denver the train reached Denver the railway depot was cleared. Soldiers with loaded rifles and fixed bayonets guarded the place and patrolled the platform.
Thirty army trucks with armed guards were waiting. They were taking no chances on John Dillinger. Even with all the guards present, the officials were not sure that it would be unloaded till a fire truck was summoned to cast the gleam of its powerful spotlights on the loading platform.

Then, with an armed guard looked inside each truck and two armed guards in each cab, conveyed by two police cars with submachine guns flanked by mounted machine guns, the rear guarded by an army truck with six armed soldiers, the precious metal of

The "postage" on the gold came to $12,000.
There will be twenty more such shipments, each larger than the trial shipment before the two billions of gold from the San Francisco mint are all moved to Denver.

Why is Uncle Sam moving his gold from San Francisco to Denver? Your guess may be as good as mine.

I was in Prince Rupert in the fall of 1914 when the Leprie was reported off Dixon's Endranch and was sure the ship was believed to be heading in from the Pacific and ride and pillage the northern shore. I remember the authorities, who were sure the ship was out of the banks onto a Grand Truck Pacific cabooses in readiness to ship it up the line before the shipping started.

The official reason given is that the old mint building in San Francisco is to be torn down and replaced with a new one.

Wonder how long in the evolution of the human intelligence it will take before statesmen waken up to the realization that gold is half left in the back of one's mind or in one ledge in the hills than it is in eighty-pound bars in a mint, and that it's a lot easier on the backs of hungry men and as easy for the Treasury to issue paper bills than the gold in Nature's vaults as it is against the gold in the mint.

That's only a relatively small advance in understanding for the human brain to encompass. But what a difference it will make in human happiness when the world is able to monetize real wealth, without first finding a stated quantity of a useless rare metal.

Here's another real story about something more than gold. No: not virtue of a kindly heart, or the quality of mercy.

You'll recall that John Dillinger's chief aid in criminality was one Homer Van Meter. Mr. van Meter died last month after his arrest, being slain by police bullets shortly after Dillinger's fall.

An advertisement in a St. Paul paper reads death.

FOR SALE—One Homer Van Meter four-foot near Marston Road and the University Avenue where the gangster was slain. Holder of tooth will part with it for $1.00.

What a nation for setting monetary money values on souvenirs of its great men!

Two fatherless youths in Baltimore were digging a hole in the cellar of their home to bury some trinkets belonging to a club they had formed. They were found by the police. It turned out to be a rusted tin container filled with gold pieces. They were there in all values from $1 to $20. All told, the face value amounted to $100.

It's a criminal offence to be in possession of gold coin in United States and the boys turned the money over to the police. It's a legal question, yet to be settled, as to who is the lawful owner.

There is no law of treasure trove in United States. General property there is regarded as belonging to whoever is the owner of the real estate on which it stands—unless someone else can establish better title. The boys were to find a gold mine with the gold already mined into coins, but the poor mothers of the two boys must be in a daze, not knowing whether the law will return the gold to the boys who found it, or send them to the penitentiary for being in possession.

Out in the western provinces where gasoline brings two or three times the price it does in the States, readers who drive cars will be interested in a few gasoline saving devices.
There's a carmaker that's supposed to save 30 per cent of the gas on every gallon plus that save 15 per cent a compound you put in the gas that saves another 20 per cent and a gadget in the manifold that saves a further 20 per cent.

I heard of a chap who had all the gas-saving appliances installed and took his car out for a test drive. He must have been a Fred Allen type. After he'd run 150 miles he found that the gas tank was running over.

One of the best stories told about the late Grant Hall and the reputation he built up for keeping his word was told by one Fred Allen.
He was a boiler maker for 23 years in the Winnipeg shops.
After the general strike of 1906 Grant Hall was hired to build a boiler for the Winnipeg shops.
For two and a half years he did not leave his work at a reduced salary. When it finally came to Grant Hall's knowledge he ordered that he be paid $200 a week. In 1910 Allen received a pay cheque for $204 hours. What a week's pay!
And what a man of his word!

Do We Need to Eat Meat?

By DOCTOR FRANK MCCOY

To most people the word meat means meat of cows, sheep and other kinds of protein such as that in fish, eggs, milk, nuts, legumes and cheese. The instinct for regarding meat as the most important protein is perfectly sound, for lean beef is one of the first forms of protein.

In today's article I will try to tell you why protein foods are important and why we can get health from meat.
The name protein is derived from the Greek word which means "to take first place." This means that it takes first place in the building of the living body. The reason that protein takes first place of protein is that it is the only food material which may be used to build new muscular and glandular tissues. The cells are actually built up and torn are rebuilt out of material taken from protein. You are not able to do this repair work with any other food—protein is the only one which will do it.

Dr. F. McCoy
In addition, especially, need protein to build the new body tissues which we call growth. A good diet for healthy children should include meat, eggs, and milk, and that many proteins are actually kept on a diet which is too low in protein because people have the idea that meat is not good for them. On the contrary, properly cooked meat is one of the foods the child needs most.

It is a big mistake to neglect protein because such foods are expensive. It is to the cheaper cuts of meat which require long cooking to make them tender. Many people try to replace the food lost by leaving out the meat and filling up on starches, but this is a mistake, since starches foods do not take the place of protein.

I have been referred to as "the diet specialist who lets you eat meat." The only reason that I prescribe meat is that I have found through years of experience that meat is the best food for a certain amount of meat is eaten each day. Personally, I am inclined to favor the meat diet, but I am not a dietitian. I am only a diet simply does not get as good results in the average case as a diet using meat. In advancing how much protein should be taken in each meal, McGilchrist says that a pound of pound of lean meat, together with one or two eggs, and the proteins found in vegetables, will provide the right amount of protein.

In using meat in the diet that you are going to serve tonight, you should be careful to combine the meat with the vegetables. The vegetables which you should use are those which contain a high percentage of water and a high percentage of non-starchy cooked vegetables and a raw salad. If you wish dessert, add gelatin or cooked dried fruit. Avoid using starch such as bread with the meat, as this is not a good combination. I believe that it is advisable to avoid mixing meat and milk at the same meal. McGilchrist says that combining meat with non-starchy vegetables, which take the place of the parts of the animal that we throw away, the vegetable proteins are not available because they furnish the alkaline elements needed to properly balance the acid-forming elements in the meat.

I have made a list of the proteins which I have found to be the best. This list includes: lean beef, mutton, chicken, rabbit, turkey, sole, cod, salmon, trout, haddock, oysters, cream, and gelatin. By choosing from this list you will be sure to get wholesome proteins.

I have prepared many articles about meat which I will be glad to send to you. Write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing only a large,self-addressed envelope. For each article you want sent, please enclose a stamp for 10c.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: I am a housewife. Please tell me the best way to eat protein. So often I am told that they will poison me. I am very fond of them but hesitate eating them for fear.

ANSWER: Ripe olives when properly cured are very wholesome. Ripe olives are to be preferred to green olives, as green olives are not wholesome if they are allowed to stand for several hours in cold water before being eaten, as this will extract some of the salt brine in which they are put up.

British' Labor Demands Arms Inquiry As In U.S.

Chickie's Daughter

Pippin sat in the hammock at her mother's side, tore open a letter from Greag and pretended an immediate and enormous interest. But she didn't read a word. She waited with burning heat as Helena turned pages Kevin had written. Finally Helena looked up, her eyes swimming with love.
"It's about Don. When Kevin was in Boston they spent a great deal of time together. Because Chickie was grateful for things Kevin said about her son, she handed the letter to Pippin.
Pippin's glance flew down the page. With hand, reluctant eyes she came to the last paragraph, reading the sentences with dread and longing. She could not bear it that her husband's name should be named. She spoke of Dade and Dade's plans for entering college and the course he should like, but in the whole letter there was not one mention of Pippin. As though she did not exist!
"Grand, lovely little Helena. Now ain't you proud of your offspring?" Pippin's careful indifference fooled her mother. She walked up to Dade and said with a sweetened tone: "Let's take out the boat and ride the curb-board!"
For hours she flew recklessly over the bounding waters. But at intervals she would feel again that cold slap on her heart. Not even her name mentioned!
At sunset she walked along the trail, hearing around upper Echo.
"I'll get some wild flowers, mother."
But she didn't look for a blossom. She watched a pink cloud drift over the black, colossal shoulders of Raton.
"Like a shower of roses," she thought and felt cold though the whole sky and the clear, beautiful waters now shimmered with flame. It was still, the trees above her made sanctuary.
She sat on a boulder, looking westward at the mountain, looking back and repeating to herself: "All these colors—crimson, like a wine poured out!"
A boat rounded the crag. She saw Dale. Tears rushed to her eyes and she wanted to escape. But he landed.
He sat beside her, saying nothing for a while but only pointing to a field of jade that now gleamed through the lighted sky.
The lake looks like rippling mother-of-pearl, doesn't it? All that lovely undertone of fire I wish I could paint it!"
He put his arm around Pippin. But carefully, as a friendly gesture and not at all a caress.
"Why do you feel so sad, on a beautiful evening like this?"
"I'm not sad. I was just thinking I'd go in for a swim. I'd like to float through all those colors. On and on."
"Yes—we always want to escape."

Touring East On Business

Vice-Admiral Alan Geoffrey Holburn, C.B., C.M.G., member of the Port of London Authority, is making a two weeks' tour of Eastern Canada. He has not been in the Dominion since he was a midshipman on a British man-of-war forty years ago.
The tropics to be happy in his life. Pippin watched him, her interest quickened. "Are you an Eskimo?"
"What would you say about that? Well—as a husband I don't think I'm God's gift to a woman. Even Kate, who likes me as a comrade might find me intolerable as a mate. I don't fit in with conventional social life. I like solitude, the wilder the better. I like to tramp up mountains and live carelessly without watching a clock. I'm not good at getting meals on time or remembering birthdays or deciding two weeks ahead that I'll go to a dinner on Saturday at eight o'clock. I'm just a tramp and can't be bothered to be bothered in with routine. The wife I married happened to like everything I hated and hated everything I liked. She could stand two days in these mountains about as well as I could stand a stuffy little apartment one year. So we parted."
"How can anyone dismiss a great emotional experience, like love and marriage so blandly?"
"You don't do it blandly. You fight on and on, hoping to recapture the last joy. But after a year of unromantic war, you'd be surprised how gladly you welcome peace."
He worked on at the sketch. She said, musing: "But there must always remain a sadness."
He voice around him. She came over and dropped to the boulder at her feet.
"Would you be dead if you discovered you'd been in love with me?"
"No, but you are. Charming desire, mounting alone and longing to float out on the water in a little boat, to find a sunset sea. You make a marvelous picture, that can't help longing to paint."
"Oh—so, that's it!" said Pippin, laughing and jumping quickly to her feet. "You want to use my imagined sorrows as material!"
He caught her hands. "Don't say that. I want to sketch you—just as you are. You're a little war and looked seriously into her face. But the torch her head and gave a quick, sudden laugh: "But that's all right—that lovely! I'll come over in the morning and you can sketch me on this crag."
She knew her cheeks were stained, a little flutter of excitement ran along her neck. She remembered the look in Dale's eyes, the deep red of his lips. She thought of him and said to another image in her mind: "What do I care? I DON'T care!"
Dale sketched her sitting on a rock at the edge of the lagoon. Once he came up and turned her face.

LABATT "JOB" PLANNED FOUR YEARS BEFORE

Detroit Police Suspect Members of Old Chicago "Collegiate" Gang
DETROIT, Sept. 12.—John S. Labatt, wealthy London, Ont., brewer kidnapped and released on promise to pay $25,000 ransom, was marked as a prospective kidnapping victim four years ago. It was reported here last night, that Labatt was kidnapped Aug. 14 and released early Aug. 17. The police revealed events surrounding the kidnapping Thursday as they announced two of the abductors had been identified. They were Albert Pegram, alias Jack Snow, alias Robert Leon, and David Meuser, Canadian with a record as a suspect in holdups and burglaries.
Meuser and Pegram were said to have joined the gang of Chicago criminals known as the "Collegiate" gang who were reported to have made Windsor their hideaway after their leader Jack Kluha was killed by police in Chicago, last January. This gang were said to have been considering Labatt as a kidnapping victim four years ago.
Pegram is described as a former bootlegger and run-runner.

HUEY LONG'S SLATE WINS IN PRIMARIES

Huge Lead Piled Up Over Bitter Enemy—Other Primaries Held
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—A smashing victory for Huey P. Long's candidates in Louisiana (featured Thursday's important) primaries in eight states.
Quickly coming from behind against the state of Mayor C. Sommer Wainwright of New Orleans, the "Kingfish" candidate piled up overwhelming leads, assuring their election in November Long's men captured two congressional seats from the first and second districts and around the present city.
Stiff contests were indicated by incomplete returns on several races where apais appeared in the offing. Miss Josephine Rhodes, an independent and small worker, overtook Governor Edwin C. Johnson in a close fight for the democratic gubernatorial nomination shortly after the polls closed in Colorado. The victor will meet Neale C. Warren, republican, in November.
First returns from Washington showed Charles H. Levey leading John C. Stevenson and Lewis B. Schellenberg for the Democratic nomination with D. V. Northland, Henry Odus and Ralph A. Horn close together in the republican senatorial contest.

Investigation of International Traffic in Munitions Asked Because U. S. Data Can't Be Ignored
LONDON, Sept. 12.—A British arms trader Tuesday charged the Washington munitions inquiry with distorting the well of truth by diluting with the stick of suspicion as the British Labor party announced it would press the government to investigate international traffic in arms.
Captain John Bell, the Irish director of the Society for the Disarmament of Nations, denounced a sensational report of secret arms sales to the world's renegade revolutionaries as "pure nonsense" and the Labor party, nevertheless, demanded investigation of all private manufacture and trade in arms.
Last week Liberal members of parliament discussed they would urge an investigation after parliament reconvenes October 20.

RAILWAY MAY LOSE TROOPS

HARBIN, Sept. 12.—Manchukuoan military authorities Tuesday threatened to withdraw protection from a section of the Soviet-owned Chinese Eastern Railway if the railway authorities did not pay more money for the upkeep of the troops.
The vice-president of the railroad board replied that money paid for 1933 and 1934 alone totaled 4,000,000 gold rubles (25,000,000). The railway was not obliged to maintain government troops, he said, but would consent to help the authorities in matter of supplying property and employees.

Protest Good Place For Hunters To Open Season

PROVOST, Sept. 12.—When the whistle blows next Saturday, hunters in this district know exactly where they are going. Owing to the quantity of deer, the birds and grouse are more plentiful on the stable fields than usual.
Bob Farwell, local farmer, said Monday that the grouse are around in great numbers, adding that he never saw so many so early in the season.

GERMANS WILL PAY OFF DEBT

LONDON, Sept. 12.—German importers of yarn, facing a complete shutdown at the source of supply, have offered to pay £2,000,000 worth of yarn, and the provision of 12 monthly installments, it was announced Tuesday. In the offer, it is declared, the German yarn delivery of yarn to Germany resumed, even though the country is in a state of economic depression.

Women Oppose Haul of Ship Riting Resort

ASBURY PARK, N.J., Sept. 12.—The bulk of the Morris Canal will not be used to bring this resort out of the "red" if the women of the city help it.
"I'm not angry, but I don't want this and I'm not going to have it," he said, still holding his hand, his eyes warm and his lips tense. "Are you quite sure about that?"

Crop Yields Are Lower At Provost

PROVOST, Sept. 12.—Almost without exception, returns from wheat crops harvested in this district to date have been lower than estimated previous to this date. Many crops, showing a good stand and using more than four pounds of twelve, have been harvested, yielded less than 20 bushels per acre instead of 40 as estimated. One big threshing outfit, with two tractors, was described as doing enough work for 3,000 bushels and few days.
About half of the threshing has been completed. Operations were halted over the week-end, but that work will be resumed until late this week. Wheat has yielded so far has graded all the way from No. 1 hard to number 4.
Bucal has about 5000 bushels of wheat, but no manufacture of medicine.

The Excellence of C.N.R. Service Exemplified by Dining Cars and Hotels.

With practically all forms of land transportation, other than railways, the only service rendered is the conveyance of the passenger from one place to another—that is all. Problems of personal convenience and comfort are left to the passenger to solve for himself as best he may. Railways, however, are the outstanding exception.

Not merely is this matter of transportation attended to, but it is done in such a way as to add to it the important considerations of safety, comfort and speed. The ideal striven for is to make the passenger feel—and be—as comfortable and as free from anxiety as he would be in his own home. That, at any rate, is the C. N. R. ideal. How this is being done can perhaps best be illustrated by taking C. N. R. dining cars and hotels as typical examples.

The dining car of a C. N. R. train is highly organized and expertly managed, and it meets adequately and unobtrusively the desires of even the most fastidious traveller. Here are to be had fixed-priced meals of a quality and variety which challenge those served under the most favourable conditions anywhere. In keeping with C. N. R. policy, the dining car service has been improved and modernised, and prices are as low as—and frequently lower than—prevail in city restaurants.

Then the C. N. R. hotels are among the best on the American continent. The Chateau Laurier at Ottawa, The Macdonald at Edmonton, and The Fort Garry at Winnipeg not only lend lustre to the cities in which they are situated, but are known all over the world. They have afforded hospitality to leading statesmen, financiers, and travellers from all corners of the globe, and their praises are proclaimed everywhere by those who appreciate and are able to command the best. One does not, however, require to be exalted in position or in purse to enjoy these and other C. N. R. hotels—their hospitality is available to all, whether it be for a sojourn of long duration or just for a meal.

The standards set by C. N. R. hotels and dining cars are very high. They are instanced here as being typical of C. N. R. service throughout the whole system. The desire is to provide the best at the lowest cost. You can test this for yourself. Travel by C. N. R. and be thoroughly satisfied.

WRESTLING TO PRESENT PLEASING MAT PROGRAM

Local Boys Have Impressive Bouts In Cutchers Show

Anderson - Cummings Tie In Main Event, While Others Produce Much Colorful Action

By JACK BEAKIN

Well matched in four three-limbed bouts, middleweight wrestling action last night in Prommer's Hall, and their performance bids fair in exciting all previous wrestling shows here for crowd-pleasing entertainment. The little men of the grappling game were showered with unending rounds of applause as a thrill-gripped crowd of wildly excited spectators expressed their emotions with cheers that echoed and reverberated throughout the Memorial Hall building.

EMPHASIS CROWD

It was the first appearance here for these lighter professional wrestlers, but they were impressive in their initial bouts during which not a dull moment was in evidence as the grapplers put up a show of the rise to prominence of middleweight wrestling has been rapid in Canada and the United States and after last night's performance there remains little doubt, but that they have made an impression upon the grappling followers of this city, all of whom left well pleased with the night's entertainment.

LOCAL BOYS GOOD

Two local boys, Jack Jackson and Gil Knutson, were impressive in their bouts, winning both of them, and established themselves as favored grapplers in the hearts of the local wrestling fans. Knutson was possibly the more impressive of the two and was given a big hand when he took the deciding fall over his opponent.

Des Anderson and "Bad Boy" Bob Cummings proved themselves real headline attractions in their tangle battle to a draw in the main event. But up to a great show in their eight-minute round bout or best two of three falls, and although Anderson was the favored contestant to take a triumph, Cummings held him well in check and the "bad boy" tactics of Cummings caused much excitement among the fair crowd in attendance, especially the large number of ladies present.

Cummings took the first fall after one minute and 45 seconds had elapsed in the fifth round, when he pinned Anderson's shoulders to the mat with a crushing reverse Japanese hold that proved plenty satisfying for the cunning Anderson.

BATTLED BITTERLY

Two bitterly battled rounds passed before Anderson evened the tally.
